Chad Antuma is an Associate at Miller Johnson. He is starting his litigation practice working with the healthcare reimbursement practice group.

Mr. Antuma, prior to coming to Miller Johnson, spent his last year in law school as a law clerk at another firm with a longstanding reputation for work in the personal injury and Michigan no-fault auto law. His experience includes:

- Researching and writing about complex no-fault, nuisance, and other tort liability issues
- Evaluating the viability of no-fault and personal injury claims

Mr. Antuma now works with healthcare systems and provider organizations. He pursues improperly denied claims by enforcing state and federal laws requiring prompt payment of claims by third-party payers.

Professional Experience and Affiliations

Mr. Antuma served two clerkships while in law school. The first in 2017 was with the Federal Public Defender's Office for the Western District of Michigan. In 2018, he clerked with the American Civil
